Agricultural Production Survey for the year ended 30 June 1999

Return date:

Please return this completed questionnaire within 14 days of receiving it.

Who uses the information?

Summarised statistics are released to farming and other industry organisations, government, researchers and other users in the community. Government agencies use agricultural statistics in the compilation of the national accounts, international reporting, trade negotiations and in the investigation of current agricultural concerns. The private sector uses agricultural statistics in the planning of future processing requirements, transportation and other agricultural infrastructure issues.

Compulsory requirement:

The taking of this survey has been approved by the Minister of Statistics and the return of this questionnaire duly filled in and signed is a compulsory requirement under the Statistics Act 1975.

Confidentiality of information supplied:

This is a joint survey by Statistics New Zealand and the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry. However the only individual information from the survey that may be released to the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry are the names and addresses and areas in exotic forest of those farmers with more than 40 hectares in exotic trees. This would be used to update the population for their National Exotic Forest Description Survey.

You have the right to object in writing to the Government Statistician, to the release of this information to the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry. In accordance with the confidentiality provision of the Statistics Act 1975, no other individual information from the survey will be released to anyone other than an authorised member of Statistics New Zealand for the purpose of producing official statistics.

The sample for this survey has been drawn from Agribase, a land based register of farms used for biosecurity purposes and by rural rescue services, maintained by AgriQuality New Zealand. No individual information from the Agriculture Production Survey will be disclosed to AgriQuality New Zealand.
